Nonviolent Peacemaking & Resistance

Social Media Intern

DC Peace Team is about positive change and supporting the community. We are committed to unleashing the power of ordinary civilians growing their nonviolent skills and practices so we may all better resist injustice, and thus, build a more sustainable just peace.

The DC Peace Team lives this mission by:

- deploying unarmed civilian protection units
- providing training in key nonviolent skills
- facilitating restorative justice circles

We offer sessions for skills such as Nonviolent Communication, Bystander Intervention, Restorative Circles, as well as Unarmed Civilian Protection and Accompaniment. We are a small team of staff supported by volunteers and interns who significantly contribute to the functions of our organization.

DC Peace Team is seeking a remote Social Media Intern for the upcoming semester. Reporting to the Operations Manager, you will contribute to the organization's social media strategy and growth. We welcome your creative ideas. We also work with each intern to provide professional experience in a programmatic area of their interest such as Unarmed Civilian Protection, Restorative Justice, Training, Measurement/Evaluation/Research/Learning, or Sustainable Development.

Responsibilities

- Available remotely for 4-5 hours per week during office hours. Additional hours possible, as needed
- Design social media content according to training schedule and social media strategy; this includes posts and short-form videos
- Manage social media schedule
- Interact with DCPT's social media comments and wider community in a manner consistent with the organization's brand; escalate comments or questions as needed
- Track and analyze social media performance
